

"ABDUCTORS" OF OGLE GIRL TRAILED TO CHICAGO

Washington was an idealist in the sense that he had a very high standard of private and public honor. He was a prophet to the extent of being able to forecast with remarkable vision the growth of the nation he founded and the changing conditions it would meet. Essentially he was a very practically man. He analyzed the problems before him with clear intellect. Having a thorough understanding he attacked them with courage and energy, with patience and persistence.

He was consistently warning his countrymen of the danger of settling problems in accordance with sectional interests. His ideas in regard to the opening of our western territory were thought out primarily for the benefit of the nation.

It was with clear vision that the first President looked upon religion, because for him there was little in it of emotionalism. He realized that religion was the main support of free institutions. Without bigotry, without intolerance he appeals to the highest spiritual nature of mankind. His genius has filled the earth.

MILLIONS HEARD COOLIDGE PRAISE FIRST PRESIDENT

Executive Was Given Ovation When He Spoke Today

Address is Heard Plainly in Berlin

New York, Feb. 22—(AP)—President Coolidge's speech in Washington today was heard "clear and strong" in Berlin, said a cablegram received by the National Broadcasting Company this afternoon.

The speech was received by station HES in Berlin on the 22 meter wave length from Schenectady.

(Editor's Note—The complete text of President Coolidge's address on Washington will be found on page 5.)

Washington, Feb. 22—(AP)—From the historic chamber of the house of representatives, the voice of Calvin Coolidge today reached out over the nation and into foreign lands to sound the commanding note in tribute to America's first president.

Speaking at a joint session of the congress, Mr. Coolidge declared before the hushed audience of the highest in American official life that Washington had come to personify the republic and that he was "a builder—a creator; a man with a national mind."

Big Radio Hook-Up
The President began speaking at 12:30 p. m. The largest radio hook-up ever attempted, 42 stations, broadcast his words and stations KDKA at Pittsburgh and WGY at Schenectady, endeavored to carry the speech across the sea.

The ceremony in the house today marked the formal opening of the arrangements for the 200th celebration of Washington's birth to be held in the capital city in 1932.

Vice President Dawes presided with Speaker Longworth sitting to his left in front of the large American flag which has hung for many years back of the speaker's platform.

Chief Justice Taft and the associate justices of the supreme court, dressed in the black robes of their office, sat in the front row, facing the platform.

Galleries Were Filled.
The galleries were filled.
Preceding the session, the United States Marine Band, stationed in the capitol rotunda, kept up a lively selection of airs.

Shortly after noon the senate, which this morning had listened to the reading of Washington's farewell address, was ushered to seats immediately in the rear of the supreme court justices. House members sat back of

Chinese Civil War Has Reached City of Shanghai

BY THE A.P.
China's civil war today reached Shanghai, the great international port where several thousand foreigners reside.

Cantonese gained control of a Chinese gunboat in the Whangpoo river and opened fire on the city striving to reach the Kiangnan arsenal and explode munitions there, part of the war stores of the northerners.

Shells, falling short, dropped into the French concession, adjoining the international settlement. No foreigners were hit, but two Chinese were killed and the homes of two Americans damaged.

News of the bombardment coming out of a clear sky emphasized the dangers besetting the foreign residents of the port. It was only recently that the contending Chinese factions rejected a suggestion by Secretary of State Kellogg for neutralization of Shanghai to protect the noncombatants there.

More than a score of foreign warships, largely British, American and Japanese, lie at anchor off the city, and the effective land forces will soon be swelled by arrival of transports from England and California bearing British soldiers and American marines.

Dispatches received before the news of the bombardment said the execution squads of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, the northern commander, continue to parade the native section carrying out further decapitations of agitators for the general strike, which was instituted last Saturday fomented by Cantonese.

Abram Ackert Fled for Supervisorship

A petition placing Abram Ackert of this city in nomination for the office of supervisor at the spring township election, was filed with Town Clerk Frank D. Palmer today by his friends. Mr. Ackert is a well known and prosperous retired farmer who has many friends who will work for his election.

NO OPPOSITION FOR ANY OF PLACES ON CITY COMMISSION AT PRIMARY VOTE, MARCH 8th

Yesterday was the last day for filing for candidates for the city primary and election under the commission form of municipal government. With the expiration for filing, there is no contest in prospect and the city will be at an expense of approximately $1,200 for the holding of the primary and election without a contest. Candidates who filed their petitions with City Clerk Blake C. Grover were

CHARLES E. HATCH OF SUBLETTE DIED LATE MONDAY EVE

One of Lee Co's Oldest Natives Answered Last Summons

Charles E. Hatch of Sublette, one of the oldest natives of Lee county, died at his home near there at 11 o'clock Monday night, his death resulting from a heart ailment, and being hastened by the death of his daughter, Mrs. Albert Tourtellot, Jan. 24th, of this year.

Funeral services will be held at his old home Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. Phillip Schwabenhut, pastor of the Sublette Union church, and burial will be at the Union cemetery near Sublette.

Mr. Hatch, who was a widely known farmer and stock raiser, was born Dec. 12, 1848, his birthplace being a part of the spacious farm on which he lived and died. He was given excellent educational advantages in his youth, laying the foundation of his education in the Sublette schools and afterwards pursuing a course of study in the academy at Lee Center.

After leaving school he taught two winters, but his attention was given mostly to farming and stock-raising, in which he was eminently successful. His father gave him a valuable property, to which he added through his successful efforts, and the improvements on his estate were of the best. He became very widely known through the excellence of his stock and the beauty of his farm.

He served his community as road commissioner and school director, was a staunch Republican and his religious faith was that of Congregationalism.

He was married to Miss Catherine Kaine in 1874, and she preceded him in death Nov. 21, 1905. He was again married in 1908 and is survived by his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Clifford McBride of Paw Paw; and two sons, Hayes and Charles, Jr. Mr. Hatch's family were legion and his death brings sorrow to many hearts.

Mrs. Palmer Johnson of Marion, S. C., is visiting at the Morrison H. Vall home. She will be remembered as Miss Evelyn Selby, having visited in Dixon frequently.

Mrs. Collins filed suit for divorce in January and is now in court, each charged with infidelity. The case was on the circuit court docket for this week. Mrs. Collins had been staying in Carbondale with a sister but Collins went for her last night and brought her back to Marion. Collins, an automobile mechanic, had been paying temporary alimony of $55 a month.

Tuberculosis Clinic Here Thursday Morning
The second tuberculosis clinic of the year in Lee county will be conducted in the supervisors' room at the court house Thursday. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. Robert H. Hayes of Chicago.

VETERAN DOCTOR OF OGLE COUNTY TOOK OWN LIFE

Funeral Held Today at Byron for Dr. Albert Woodcock

Byron, Feb. 22—The funeral of Dr. Albert J. Woodcock, veteran Ogle county physician, who committed suicide at his farm home Saturday, by firing a bullet from a 44-70 revolver through his heart was held at the Methodist church here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. A. C. Moses delivered the eulogy and the burial was in Dixon at 2:45 A. P. and A. M. in charge of the services.

The death of Dr. Woodcock came as a distinct shock to hundreds of friends throughout this vicinity. Although no motive was known, it is presumed that despondency that had longed since the death of his wife, several months ago, prompted him to take his life.

Resided Alone on Farm.
The body was discovered by Dr. S. C. Thomson, Byron, who had been requested by a daughter to investigate and ascertain if her father was ill. The Byron physician found the house locked, but he finally gained entrance to find the body of the victim crouched over a table in the library. The gun was found on the floor. Death apparently had been instantaneous and the suicide is believed to have been committed some time Saturday forenoon.

When repeated attempts to call the doctor's home Saturday forenoon proved unsuccessful, Mrs. Brown asked Dr. Thomson to investigate and ascertain if her father was ill. The Byron physician found the house locked, but he finally gained entrance to find the body of the victim crouched over a table in the library. The gun was found on the floor. Death apparently had been instantaneous and the suicide is believed to have been committed some time Saturday forenoon.

Son of U. S. Ambassador.
Conner J. C. Atkins, Forrester, was notified and ordered the body removed to the Gill undertaking parlors where an inquest was held Sunday, a verdict of death by a self-inflicted gunshot wound. T. Clyde Gill, Byron, was foreman of the jury.

Dr. Woodcock was born in Byron and had resided here practically all his life. He was a son of the late Major Albert J. Woodcock, who led an Ogle county unit during the Civil war and served as ambassador to Italy during the Garfield administration.

In 1880 Dr. Woodcock was graduated from Rush Medical college, Chicago, and in 1881 he was married to Miss Helen Snyder, Byron. He established a practice here, which he maintained until 20 years ago, when he moved to "Camp Riverside," as his farm was familiarly known to hundreds of friends.

Mrs. Woodcock died in 1925. Surviving are five children, Guy F. Woodcock, Rockford; Charles, Kansas City; Miss June, Mrs. C. A. Brown, Stillman Valley and another daughter, Mrs. Lucella Moline, Los Angeles.

Liked Outdoor Life.
Dr. Woodcock's hobby was outdoor life. When a young man he spent several years in the west, associating with ranchers and cowboys and developed an enthusiasm that predominated throughout his life.

When Camp Grant was opened and the 86th division was formed, Dr. Woodcock offered his farm as a camping ground for troops—his suggestion was readily accepted by division officers.

Named 33rd Division.
His popularity at Camp Grant was demonstrated when he was privileged to name the division. Dr. Woodcock not only named the "Black Hawks" but he taught them the battle cry of the Indian chief, which they carried to France. He had been an honored guest at every reunion of the division.

Among his choice possessions were letters from President Wilson, Premier Clemenceau, General Pershing and other army officials voicing their appreciation of his services during the war.

Known as an authority on American history, Dr. Woodcock had collected a library and an assortment of war weapons that was famous throughout the United States.

He will long be remembered by former patients, hundreds of neighbors in Ogle county and to thousands of veterans, who first saw service in Camp Grant, as a true patriot and staunch friend.

Marion Man and His Wife Found Dead in the House
Marion, Ill., Feb. 22—(AP)—Answering a woman's telephone call for help, police early today found the bodies of Mrs. Collins and her husband, Clay Collins, at their home here. Mrs. Collins apparently had killed his wife and then shot himself, as a 38 calibre revolver was within four inches of his hand.

Mrs. Collins filed suit for divorce in January and is now in court, each charged with infidelity. The case was on the circuit court docket for this week. Mrs. Collins had been staying in Carbondale with a sister but Collins went for her last night and brought her back to Marion. Collins, an automobile mechanic, had been paying temporary alimony of $55 a month.

Tuberculosis Clinic Here Thursday Morning
The second tuberculosis clinic of the year in Lee county will be conducted in the supervisors' room at the court house Thursday. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. Robert H. Hayes of Chicago.

JEALOUS CHENOA MAN KILLED HIS WIFE YESTERDAY

Accused Her of Going with Other Men: 12 Motherless

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 22—(AP)—"I warned her and warned her that I was going to kill her, if she didn't be good, snubbed George M. Brown, 45, Chenoa, who killed his wife, 45, the mother of twelve children, yesterday, following several months of marital trouble.

The shooting took place at the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Eliza Skaggs, where Mrs. Brown had been living since she and her husband had quarreled.

When interviewed in his cell at the county jail in Bloomington, Brown stated that his wife had been going with other men. The whole trouble has been started because that woman was just a low down thing," the slayer said. "It's been going on a long, long time. There's a dirty cur out in Chenoa I wanted to get at the same time, but I guess I won't have a chance now. There was another one over in Lexington, I intended killing. She drove me to it. She wouldn't be good."

But friends of Mrs. Brown tell entirely different stories and say so far as they knew, she was a virtuous woman.

Byrd Will Attempt Flight Over South Pole Summer of '28

Chicago, Feb. 22—(AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd, the first man to fly an airplane over the North Pole, will attempt to fly across the South Pole in the Antarctic in the summer of 1928, he announced here.

The flight base will be in the ice barrier around the Pole. Commander Byrd has been working out the plans since last May. Bases of supplies will be established, facilities for taking over and alighting will be prepared and trial flights made in the next 18 months.

An American built Fokker plane will be used and the flight will be privately financed.

Wasley Written Up in Chicago Column

Roq's column in last evening's Chicago Evening Post contained the following concerning Ulysses Wasley, former Dixon man:

"From Pullman News by V. T. Donald Hopper, 19 year old grocery clerk, was shot in the left arm and shoulder with a shotgun today when he tried to rejoin his bride of two months through a window of her parents' home in Dupu, near here. He was brought to an East St. Louis hospital in a serious condition. Hopper said Mrs. Nellie Stephens, his mother-in-law, ordered him from the house last night. He went back today and tried the door and then the window. He said Mrs. Stephens fired once as he approached and again as he ran."

"In behalf of myself and other conductors who may sometime face this difficult problem, we demand the rest of the story. What did Ulysses Wasley do, when the one he-passenger sat upon the other she-passenger's hat?"

Youth Badly Injured Seeking to Join Wife

East St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 22—(AP)—Donald Hopper, 19 year old grocery clerk, was shot in the left arm and shoulder with a shotgun today when he tried to rejoin his bride of two months through a window of her parents' home in Dupu, near here. He was brought to an East St. Louis hospital in a serious condition. Hopper said Mrs. Nellie Stephens, his mother-in-law, ordered him from the house last night. He went back today and tried the door and then the window. He said Mrs. Stephens fired once as he approached and again as he ran.

Since Japan has accepted the suggestion as originally advanced by President Coolidge but with a stipulation that discussions not begin before June 1, it remains only for Great Britain to disclose her attitude on her position in a serious condition. Hopper said Mrs. Nellie Stephens, his mother-in-law, ordered him from the house last night. He went back today and tried the door and then the window. He said Mrs. Stephens fired once as he approached and again as he ran.

'KIDNAPPING' CRY HEARD MONDAY IN FORRESTON TOWN

Young Girl Taken to Chicago by Mother and Step-Father

State motorcycle officers and deputies from the office of Sheriff Ward Miller were called upon yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock to assist Sheriff Sam Good of Ogle county in the apprehension of two men and a woman who were charged with the kidnapping of 14 year old Dorothy Scott from the Forreston public school shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The officers made a hurried search of state highway 26 from this city to Forreston, but found no trace of an Overland sedan, said to have carried 1926 license plates 615-414 which were issued to Fred Hartley, 7633 Greenview avenue, Chicago, for a Sudson.

Chicago police last evening arrested Dr. and Mrs. Wulf and a chauffeur as they returned to that city with the girl, holding them awaiting the arrival of Sheriff Good from Oregon, who held a warrant charging the trio with kidnapping. Habeas corpus proceedings which followed the arrest of the party, resulted in their being liberated before the Ogle county officer reached the city.

Parents Separated.
The girl had made her home with Dr. and Mrs. Wood of Forreston and attended the public school at that place, her parents having been legally separated some time ago. Recently she had written to her mother, who has since married Dr. Wulf of Chicago, and signified a desire to live with her mother. Dr. and Mrs. Wulf went to Forreston yesterday with a chauffeur and met the girl as she was going to school after the dinner hour. She was taken in the car and left at once for Chicago. This action resulted in the kidnapping scare which brought officers from many counties to guard the highway.

R. W. Scott, father of the girl, late yesterday afternoon swore out a warrant charging kidnapping and the doctor and his wife and the girl were taken in custody when they arrived at home, only to be released later on the habeas corpus procedure.

According to the Ogle county authorities at the time of the decree for divorce of the Scotts, no arrangement was made for the custody of the girl, and it was on this ground that the habeas corpus proceeding was instituted. The girl had written her mother asking to live with her in Chicago, it was said, and it was reported today that Dr. and Mrs. Wulf with the girl will go to Oregon in a few days to make final disposition of the case.

Italy Also Is Against Plans for Less Ships Joins France in Turning Thumbs Down on Coolidge Plea

Washington, Feb. 22—(AP)—Italy, like France, has turned thumbs down on the American five power naval limitation proposal and the fact that the Washington administration officials for a conference and ultimate agreement among the five leading naval powers for lighter battle craft restriction.

Since Japan has accepted the suggestion as originally advanced by President Coolidge but with a stipulation that discussions not begin before June 1, it remains only for Great Britain to disclose her attitude on her position in a serious condition. Hopper said Mrs. Nellie Stephens, his mother-in-law, ordered him from the house last night. He went back today and tried the door and then the window. He said Mrs. Stephens fired once as he approached and again as he ran.

The Italian reply expressed that government's unwillingness to discuss limitation alone declaring "there exists no basis for the consideration of every type of armament of every single power, and furthermore that it is not possible to adopt partial measures between only the five large naval powers."

Compton Youth Met Death in Machine on Father's Farm
Raymond Schnuckel, aged 15, son of William Schnuckel, a prominent farmer who resides south of Compton, died at the Compton hospital at 7 o'clock Monday evening from a fractured skull, which he received when he became entangled in the belt of some machinery at his home during the afternoon. Coroner F. M. Barker of Franklin Grove conducted an inquest this morning.

CLARK HESS TAKES POSITION AS MANAGER DIXON OFFICES OF THE CHICAGO MOTOR CLUB
The Chicago Motor Club has opened a suite of offices over the Manhattan restaurant and from all indications the Dixon branch will be one of the most active in Illinois outside of Chicago. Miss Florence Anderson of Mattson, who has been associated with Chicago Motor club for some time, has been transferred to Dixon and is assisting Mr. Hess in the local office.

SISTER OF DIXON MAN BURNED TO DEATH IN WEST

Mrs. Rhoda Bigelow is Victim of Tragedy in California

John Shoemaker, 211 Douglas avenue, yesterday received the sad news of the death of his sister, Mrs. Rhoda Bigelow of San Pedro, Cal., for many years a resident of Dixon, who was practically burned to death at her home in the western city Saturday, Feb. 14. The following clipping from a San Pedro daily tells of the accident as follows:

"Mrs. Rhoda R. Bigelow, 60-year-old widow, residing on West Nineteenth street, met a horrible death late Saturday night when her clothes were ignited by an overheated stove, which she was standing by, enveloping her in a blanket of flames. She passed away a little while later at the San Pedro General hospital. The body was removed to the County Jail undertaking parlors where the funeral was held. Interment was made in the Roosevelt Memorial park. A brother, Mr. Shoemaker, residing at 2211 South Myler street and a niece, Miss Grace Richardson of the same address, are the survivors here."

Screams of the woman, whose body resembled a human torch, were heard by one of the roomers in her home, who rushed to her assistance; but the flames had spread to every part of her body and despite heroic efforts by Dr. Ralph Thompson to save her life, she passed away at 11 p. m."

TO CREMATE BODY OF "ALIBI IKE" AFTER SERVICES

Last Rites to be Said at C. C. Community Meet Tomorrow

"Who is Alibi Ike?"
This is the question that was upon the lips of hundreds of people from the time last evening's issue of The Telegraph was circulated and described the tragic death of the person who is known only by the above alias. The result of the coroner's investigation had been made public up to press time today, although plans for the funeral were practically completed. Countless number called at the Staples-Moyer mortuary yesterday afternoon and today to view the remains, but saw only a fine mulberry plush covered burial case in which the remains will repose for the last rites.

At a late hour today it was indicated that Alibi Ike would receive a public burial and the fact that the death was attributed to asphyxiation in Chamber of Commerce office building, led to a decision to hold a public service Wednesday evening at the annual Get-together meeting of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce at the Elks club. Rev. P. H. Case will conduct the service and it is quite possible that the remains will be cremated. The final rites will be held immediately following the dinner at the Elks club house and will be attended by about 250 persons.

From the meagre bits of information which have been gotten from a number of different sources and the rumoring to earth as far as possible of clues leading in all directions, it is believed that Alibi Ike is a character who has been circulating generally throughout all communities. It is also the consensus of opinion that with the burial on Wednesday evening, in so far as Dixon is concerned, this victim of self-asphyxiation will be finally disposed of.

In addition to this feature of the burial of Alibi Ike, vocal solo numbers, singing and matters affecting the community interests will be enjoyed and considered. The meeting will be presided over by the new president of the Chamber of Commerce and Attorney H. C. Warner will speak on local community interests and present the features of the program.

H. J. Hudson, secretary of the Retail Interests Division of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce will be the speaker of the evening and will give a real message on the subject of "Pulling Together," not only a worth while message, but entertainingly told. Mr. Hudson comes with the reputation of being a "live wire" and a "go-getter."

Those of the businessmen and others who are connected with the business interests of Dixon who have not, as yet, procured tickets to the dinner, are urged to get them, immediately from H. J. Hellenor, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce as only those who have been provided for can be accommodated.

STRIKE OF COAL MINERS APRIL 1 SEEMS PROBABLE

Wage Conference Breaks Down in Failure and Adjourns Today

Miami, Fla., Feb. 22—(AP)—The joint conference of miners and operators of the unionized central competitive soft coal field ended today in failure to reach a new wage agreement to replace the Jacksonville agreement which expires on March 31.

Adjustment since the Lewis and Haskins proposals received from the committee which would not reconcile diverse demands by the wage scale committee of miners and operators. Unless negotiations are resumed elsewhere and an agreement reached before April 1, union miners automatically will cease labor in the central bituminous field.

The sub-committee announced its failure to agree yesterday after considering three days of the Lewis and Haskins proposals received from the joint conference on last Wednesday.

All Express Regret
Before the report of the sub-committee was put to a vote leaders for both sides expressed regret that the conference has not been able to reach an agreement. Both declared that the obligations of the industry to the American people had been duly considered in the deliberations.

President Lewis was first to speak. "I cannot believe this conference will mark the end of all efforts to prevent chaotic conditions in the industry after April 1," he declared after referring to the failure of the sub-committee to find a common ground on which the conference might act. "The mine workers want no strike or suspension," he said. "Neither do we believe that the American people will condone a strike in the industry."

"The mine workers will vote to accept the disagreement report of the sub-committee, not because they desire to do so but because they have no other alternative."

HOOCH PEDDLER IN ROCHELLE IS PUT UNDER BOND

Arrest of Customer of Grover Tyler Leads to Discovery

Rochelle—Using a former "customer" who had been arrested Saturday night on a charge of intoxication, as a decoy, Chief Ambrose Hodges and deputies from Sheriff Sam Good's office located a liquor cache at the home of Grover Tyler, 35, Sunday morning.

Tyler was arrested and is now held in the county jail at Oregon in lieu of $2,000 bonds imposed at a preliminary hearing held in Justice George O'Brien's court.

When William Olson, local farm hand, was arrested on the streets Saturday night, local police questioned him as to the source of the liquor that he most apparently had been consuming. Olson told:

Sunday morning a police car was crowded in between several other vehicles surrounding a local church and officers watched while Olson entered the Tyler home to purchase an "eye-opener." He was served, according to witnesses, and Tyler not only exposed his occupation but the location of his "stock" when he journeyed to a hedge in his yard and uncovered a jug containing real "moon."

Olson was fined $25 and costs on an intoxication charge, but it is probable that the fine will be remitted in that he was instrumental in uncovering a "leak" that the police have been investigating for several weeks.

Byron Woman Was Badly Burned at Her Home Monday

(Telegraph Special Service)
Rockford, Feb. 22—Mrs. John Lee of Byron is in a critical condition at her home at that place today, suffering from burns received in an accidental manner yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Lee suffered a fainting spell while carrying a pan of boiling water. The water was thrown over her body as she fell, cooking the flesh several inches of which fell from her body as the clothing was removed later.

Only a five year old child witnessed the accident and went to the home of a neighbor, giving the alarm. The burns were of such a nature that attending physicians today doubted the woman's recovery and she was suffering intense pain at her home.

Three Boy Scouts in Dixon Troops, Happy

The report of the Boy Scouts Court of Honor meeting at the court house Friday evening given The Telegraph was in error in announcing that two Dixon Scouts, Ray King and Winston Smith, were striving for the rank of Eagle Scout, to which Kenneth Haines was elevated at Friday's meeting. There two boys have been Eagle Scouts for some time, and Kenneth's promotion gives Dixon three "Eagle Scouts." The boys are very happy in their achievement.

Plans for Channel

Swim are Changed

The plans for the "Channel Swim" in the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool have been slightly changed. In view of the fact that everyone is busy practicing for the gym circus, the "Channel Swim" will be held immediately after the demonstration. However, this delay will give all the human fish time to get in good condition. The Saturday afternoon swimming class will be organized this coming Saturday at 3 p. m., under the direction of Mr. John R. Hays, of the Physical Education Club. As many as possible will take this opportunity to learn to swim or to improve their swimming. Junior and Senior Life Saving classes will be organized as part of the spring swimming program. Many boys are already practicing for the long grind.

MOTHERS, BABES
SERMON SUBJECT
OF DR. BOYNTON

Unusual Address Given to Large Audience
Monday Night

The First Baptist Church was well filled again last evening, as Dr. M. P. Boynton addressed them on an also interesting subject. It was family night and it was delightful to see how many had responded to the invitation to turn out and sit by families. There was real enjoyment in listening to Miss Graves singing. The choir led was well filled and Ira Lewis presided at the organ.

The Doctor said:

"I come to you with a message that is very necessary in these days. Let the little children come unto Me and forbid them not."

When the church organization was more simple whole families attended upon the preaching service. In every pew there was a whole family. It was a family possession. They made a unit from the baby to the grand father. From that unit have come the leaders and the strength of our church life. One of the most appalling things in modern church life is the absence of babies from the worship services, and it is mainly due to their slightedness of the church itself. It is not due so much to the outside attractions or forces.

Even the devil was not keen enough or mean enough to invent the machinery and the organization for denying to the children the worship of the church as has been done within the church itself.

It may be that some of these wonderful Christian people thought they were performing wonderful service when they instituted their kindergarten, etc., in the basement of the church and made them into check rooms for babies. We have put an over-emphasis on the organized life and especially for little children and youth in the last two generations. We have found empty auditoriums and depleted and impoverished church life as the result and this has broken the hearts of countless pastors.

Here the Doctor asked if all those who were about the age of 21 who could remember when they first went to church to stand up and there was no response.

This text shows that you were being taken to church before your child consciousness had begun to awaken, by your parents. All of you were acculturated to the church in your infancy. A New York City Juvenile Court Judge said that in fourteen years in that court he had not had a single juvenile delinquent where the young person had been taken to church regularly as a child.

The fact is that we have educated a whole generation to stay away from the preaching services. There has been too much importance placed upon our Sunday school and other organizations and too little on the preaching services. The Gospel of Jesus Christ is a spiritual food and it is administered and adapted to the development and condition of the human spirit.

That truth (listen to me, mothers) is as beautifully adapted to your sleeping babe in your arms in public body of your year in the material food. That little spirit is receiving the milk of the word for the spirit is never asleep, is never tired, is never sick and will never die. That little child is a living spirit. You can never imagine a little child so sheltered in the family of God ever straying very far from the Master.

A great Sunday school expert said in Chicago several years ago, "If I could choose I must decide either to abolish the Sunday school or to abolish the church and put all children in the morning worship of the church, or allow conditions to remain as they are in many churches, in which the United States is destitute of babies, I would annihilate every Sunday school in the land and put all these children in the morning worship."

Another reason, the broken home of today is largely the result of broken family life. There is something in unifying the home under the shadow of the church. The church is the influence of the church with its emerging spiritual values, prevents breaking up of many homes. These values are, through the church, without wreckage. We are lacking this cement and fundamental spiritual fellowship, a home cannot stand alone.

Tonight at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Boynton will bring to us his last message in the evangelistic meetings on "The Power of Prayer and the Proof Beyond the Shadow of a Doubt that God answers Prayer." Miss Vivian Graves will sing. Come and hear the wonderful address.

Tomorrow will begin the Union Pre-Lenten Services in the First Baptist church at which services Dr. Boynton will speak. Special music every night.

Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. "Jesus the Storm King."

Thursday at 7:30 p. m. "Jesus, the Defeater of Demons."

Friday, at 7:30 p. m. "Jesus, the Unifier of Men."

A hearty welcome awaits you. Come, Come.

How Much Do You Know About the Life of George Washington

Every schoolboy knows the general outline of the life of George Washington. He knows that Washington was a surveyor, that he lived at Mount Vernon, that he led the Revolutionary armies and was finally made president.

But Washington's life is crammed full of interesting incidents that many well-read people don't know anything about. In addition, a surprising number of people have forgotten some of the major events of his career.

So The Telegraph has compiled here a list of questions about Washington. Probably very few, if any, will be able to answer them all. But reading them and the answers, will give you a lot of new information about Washington and what he did.

1—When and where was Washington born?

2—Why did Washington make a journey across the Alleghenies in 1735?

3—How did Washington save the life of an unknown Indian on that trip?

4—Under what circumstances did he nearly lose his life in the Allegheny river, also on this trip?

5—How long did it take Washington to travel from Virginia to the site of Erie, Pa., and return?

6—When and where did Washington's first battle take place?

7—Did Washington side with the French or the English in the struggle between the two nations for the control of America?

8—Under what circumstances did Washington serve under the British General Braddock?

9—Why was Braddock's force defeated in the battle near Ft. Duquesne?

10—When and how did Washington later find Fort Duquesne in ruins?

11—In what body, and when, did Washington get his first legislative experience?

12—Was Washington at the battle of Bunker Hill?

13—When and where did he take command of the Continental army?

14—What famous Revolutionary leader suggested his appointment?

15—How did Washington save Boston in 1776?

16—What battle was Washington's first great defeat?

17—Under what circumstances did he spurn an "olive branch" offered by a British general?

18—How did General Howe's failure to move quickly after this battle save the Revolutionary cause?

19—In what way did what American officer nearly ruin the cause of independence, and incidentally, Washington as well, late in 1777?

20—What did Frederick the Great, of Prussia, say about Washington's campaign around Princeton and Trenton during the closing months of 1776?

21—How did the Continental Congress, at that time, save the Revolution?

22—How many Hessians were in the force which Washington defeated so decisively at Trenton?

23—When did Washington pledge his entire fortune to the payment of his soldiers?

24—What were Washington's expenses during the war as stated by him to the Continental Congress?

25—Why did Washington go into the battle of Brandywine with inferior forces?

26—What rank did Lafayette hold on Washington's staff?

27—When did Washington prove to have been the chief contributing cause of his death?

28—What were Washington's expenses during the war as stated by him to the Continental Congress?

29—When was Washington inaugurated president?

30—What action did Washington take, as president, when England and France went to war in 1793?

31—In what year did Washington die, and where?

cause of his death? claim the war at an end and take leave of his soldiers?

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Winter pears, cereal, thin cream, scrambled eggs with fried dried beef, corn bread, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of onion soup, croissants, sweet potatoes and pineapple salad, whole wheat bread, steamed fig pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked halibut steaks with dressing, shoestring potatoes, dandelion greens with bacon dressing, caramel nut custard, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

After making the caramel and spreading it evenly over the baking dish, sprinkle chopped nuts evenly over the caramel. Then add the custard mixture and bake as usual. The nuts absorb some of the caramel and have an unusual and delicious taste. The dessert must of course be served very cold.

STEAMED FIG PUDDING
Three-fourths cup chopped figs, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, tablespoons butter, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Five or six figs are put through the food chopper and thoroughly mixed with 2 tablespoons sifted flour. Cream butter and gradually beat in sugar. Add one or two tablespoons sifted flour, beating to keep mixture perfectly smooth. Add egg well beaten. Mix and sift remaining flour with salt and baking powder and add to mixture. Stir in prepared figs and turn into a well buttered mold. Cover mold and steam for one hour. Serve with whipped cream or hard sauce. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

OLD MASTERS
What delightful hosts are they—Life and Love!

Likingly I turn away,
This late hour, yet glad enough
They have not withheld from me
Their high hospitality.

So, with face lit with delight
And all gratitude, I say
Yet to press their hands and say,
"Thanks—So fine a time! Good night!"

Popular Young Lady
Becomes a Bride

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's Catholic church in Dixon.

Father A. Weidkamp performed the ceremony uniting the lives of Miss Mary Sommer of Oregon, Ill., and James Darby of Dixon. The bridal couple were attended by the bridesister, Barbara Leahy as bridesmaid, and Charles Darby, brother of the bridegroom, as best man.

The bride was daintily attired in a gown of rose briar georgette, with pearl trimming, with hat, slippers, etc., encoothed. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses.

The bridesmaid wore a charming gown of cherry blossom taffeta, with hat harmonizing and carried roses. The bridegroom and best man wore suits of dark blue.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sommer of Oregon, Ill. She is a young woman of pleasing personality and has a large circle of friends who join in extending their best wishes.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Darby of Tampico, Ill. He is a genial, likeable young man, and is employed at the Bales Barber shop in this city.

After the wedding ceremony the bride couple left on a short wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Darby have the best wishes of their many friends for happiness.

Bethel Missionary
Society Meeting

The Women's Missionary Society of the Bethel United Methodist church held a meeting Thursday afternoon at the church. The meeting opened by the singing of a hymn, "Send Out the Light," after which Mrs. Dora Hess, the president, presented the Scripture lesson. Several members led in prayer. Dr. Cook gave a few remarks and read a leaflet on "Sophie, the Scrubwoman," which was very much enjoyed by all. A pleasing vocal solo, "Living Jesus," was sung by Miss Minnie Ziegler.

The fifth chapter of the study book, "The Power of the Gospel" was given by Mrs. Homer Sennett and was of much interest to all.

Mrs. Quinor read another leaflet, "Hanifa," at this time.

After the singing of another hymn, written by Mrs. Josie McLain.

During the business session the election of officers was held. The same officers were re-elected as follows:

President—Mrs. Dora Hess.
Vice President—Mrs. C. E. Hill.
Corresponding Secretary—J. O. Nelson.
Recording Secretary—Miss Minnie Ziegler.
Treasurer—Mrs. Roy Gaul.
Planist—Mrs. S. D. Quinor.

ALL DAY MEETING LEE COUNTY HOME BUREAU—
An all day meeting of the Lee County Home Bureau will be held at the Farm Bureau office in Amboy Friday, the business meeting at 10:30 o'clock to be followed by a picnic luncheon at noon. The speaker of the afternoon will be Miss Maxwell of the University of Illinois, who is a specialist in household furnishing. Her subject will be "More Art, Better Homes."

CARD PARTY WILL BE HELD THURSDAY EVENING—
A card party to which the public is invited, will be held at the Knights of Columbus club house Thursday evening. Bridge and 500 will be played.

SPENT SUNDAY IN FREEPORT WITH RELATIVES AND FRIENDS—
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vaupel and four sons, of Ashton; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mail of Dixon spent Sunday in Freeport with relatives and friends.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

THE QUEEN AND THE INFANT

Queen Mary will keep the baby. This announcement comes forth from Buckingham palace just as the queen's second son, the Duke of York, and his wife, sail for Australia.

The two grandmothers of the little Princess Elizabeth, infant daughter of the twain, squabbled with dignity of course, as to which one should care for the child. The queen won. At least, she gets first inning. They say she's had a great time shopping for nursery trappings and reading modern tomes on baby care.

What a terrible thing for even a queen if something happens to the infant while its mother is away! Not even the sanctity of queenship would protect her much from the irate parents, we wager. And mothers and mothers-in-law of lesser rank may not envy the queen her job overmuch.

HORRORS AND PURPLE CATS!
I blush to tell it, but facts are facts, and they do say that four million women of the United States of America never use cosmetics! A lady spokesman for the National Convention of Beauty Shop Owners says that "these women are the type who still cling to corsets, frown on short skirts, and believe in witches."

Then again they may be mothers of daughters whose marcel and manicure bills must be met somehow without another member of the family adding more woe unto the family exchequer!

"THE CLINGING VINE"
If someone should just say to me, someone whom I always had catalogued as sorta dumb, "Oh, this modern woman stuff is the bunk. We're all miserable and would be better off if we had the same viewpoint our grandmothers had; what we ought to do is stay home and wait for the evening home-coming of the Lord and Master," I'd probably walk away and leave her and think, "What's the use of wasting time with such a moron?"

But I must confess to having been arrested by a current magazine article entitled "Feminism Destructive of Woman's Happiness," by Gina Lombroso Ferrero, author of "The Soul of Woman." Perhaps if I had seen the title first, I wouldn't have read it. But I happened to open the magazine at random and was interested before I had time to be antagonistic.

For the first time in all my years, I admitted that the anti-feminists might have an argument. The point is that this lady writer uses her brain instead of slushy unthinking sentimentality.

"Hired Girls' Unions"
The servant problem has given birth in England to an attempt to organize domestic servants into trade unions. The "domestics ask for an eight-hour day, six days a week, no deductions from wages for breakfasts, a minimum wage of 21 shillings, or about $5.25 a week for servants who "live in" and two weeks' annual vacation with pay.

Surely, none of these demands seem at all unreasonable, and not only for the sake of the servants but for the sake of all those who want domestic help. It is to be hoped that mistresses will not quibble about supporting the union. Many of us don't blame girls for refusing to go into "home service" as it has always been haphazardly carried on.

DO TIMES CHANGE ANY?
Not so many years ago a girl was hooted by hoodlums on the street as she went on her way to medical college. Just a day or so ago a riot broke out between men and women medical students in a theater of Paris.

A play called "Vocation" based on the idea that women should not enter the professions, especially the one of medicine, brought war whoops from a delegation of 60 women medical students who attended the theater. The male students battled them.

NEWS of the CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES
The Boys' Class Social went off with great success last Friday night. The five lads who presented the one-act play, "The Radio Agent," Eugene Lebre, Allen Taylor, Elwood Rickard, Robert Fulmer and Richard Newcomb, carried through their various parts in great shape, and received a big hand from the audience.

Next Sunday evening will be characterized by an emphasis on the Bible. E. M. Peterson of Princeton will bring the message, and the service will be pronounced by the Local Men's Bible Class, which will supply a men's chorus for the occasion. Everyone is invited to bring a copy of the Bible around which centers some interesting act, age, size, language, history, etc. The Communion will be held at night, for convenience of those unable to attend in the forenoon, in order to make February approach nearer to a unanimous month in loyalty to the Holy Feast.

H. B. Weston, pastor of the Walnut church for a number of years has accepted a call to the Second Church, Bloomington. He has done an excellent work in Walnut, and will be missed in this section. He and his Men's Double Quartette have been a feature of many church gatherings in this part of the State.

Plans for Channel Swim are Changed

The plans for the "Channel Swim" in the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool have been slightly changed. In view of the fact that everyone is busy practicing for the City Circuit, the "Channel Swim" will be held immediately after the demonstration. However, this delay will give all the human fish time to get in good condition. The Saturday afternoon swimming class will be organized this coming Saturday at 3 p. m., under the direction of Mr. Yohn. It is the hope of the Physical Committee that as many as possible will take this opportunity to learn to swim or to improve their swimming. Junior and Senior Life Saving classes will be organized as part of the spring swimming program. Many boys are already practicing for the long grind.

Final Basketball Games of League to be Played Wed. Eve

The last games of the first round of the Industrial League Basketball will be played on tomorrow night at the "Y". The teams are all going strong with the J. I. Case still in the lead and undefeated. The league is developing a fine spirit and good sportsmanship. A large group of interested voters are always present, urging on their favorite teams which adds much to the interest and excitement of the games.

Here is their present standing:

W.	L.	Pct.
J. I. Case	4	0 1.000
N. U. Co.	3	1 .750

When the President entered the assembly hall and applauded, Senator Fess of Ohio, chairman of the George Washington Bicentennial commission, then introduced the President. The senator made no speech simply saying that as chairman it was his privilege and honor to present the chief executive. Another rising began reading his speech from a manuscript amid the clicking of a battery of cameras in the gallery.

Mrs. Coolidge, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, occupied seats in the Presidential section of the gallery. The first lady wore a large black hat with a white crown. The fur trimmed black coat was adorned with a white rose.

GOVERNOR HARMON OF OHIO IS DEAD; HE BEAT HARDING

Prominent Democrat for Many Years; Held Numerous Posts

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Judge Harmon, former governor of Ohio, died today.

He made a notable record as a lawyer and statesman and became a figure of national prominence through his service to his home state and to the country. From the time he attained his majority until the last few years of his life he was engaged in public service most of the time. He had served as mayor, judge of common pleas and circuit courts in Ohio, attorney general of the United States, and governor of Ohio for two terms. Although never seeking the highest honor from his party, he figured prominently at several Democratic national conventions as a possible nominee for president in 1904. The Ohio delegation was instructed for him, but at his request his name was not presented. He had a strong following in the 1912 convention and received votes on several of the early ballots.

First Public Service
Mr. Harmon's public service began with his election as mayor of Wyoming, Ohio, which office he held in 1875-76. The following year he was elected judge of the court of common pleas and two years later went on to the bench of the superior court. After a service of nearly nine years he resigned March 7, 1887, to become senior member of the law firm of Harmon, Colston, Goldsmith & Headley. William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, was appointed by J. R. Foraker, then governor, to succeed him on the superior court bench.

The character of his service on the Ohio court benches and the prominence he attained in important litigation directed national attention to Judge Harmon and resulted in his appointment as attorney general of the United States by President Grover Cleveland in the latter's second administration. Judge Harmon served from March 1895 until the end of the administration in 1897, and during that time personally conducted many important suits in which the government was involved.

Named by Roosevelt
Although of opposite political faith, President Roosevelt recognized the ability of Judge Harmon and in 1904 appointed him a delegate to represent the United States at the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists. President Roosevelt also appointed him to the position of rebate on which had been filed against the Chicago, Tonawanda & Santa Fe Railway Company. He resigned after submitting his report sustaining the charges against the president refused to permit prosecution of the railway. Judge Harmon was appointed in 1889 receiver for the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad and six years later acted in the same capacity for the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, Pere Marquette and Toledo railroads.

Defeated Harding
Judge Harmon was elected governor of Ohio in 1908 and was re-elected two years later, defeating Warren G. Harding.

He was born at Newton, Ohio, near Cincinnati, February 3, 1846, the son of the Rev. B. F. Harmon and Julia Bronson Harmon. He was educated at Denison University, from which he was graduated in 1866. Three years later he received his degree in law from the Cincinnati Law School and began practice in Cincinnati. He was elected president of the Ohio State Bar Association in 1897 and the same year was named professor of law at the Cincinnati Law School. Upon the establishment of the Cincinnati branch of the Federal Reserve Bank he was named a director.

Judge Harmon married Olivia Seeley of Hamilton in June 1879. They had three daughters.

MOTHERS, BABES SERMON SUBJECT OF DR. BOYNTON

Unusual Address Given to Large Audience Monday Night

The First Baptist Church was well filled again last evening, as Dr. M. P. Boynton addressed them on the above interesting subject. It was a family night and it was delightful to see how many had responded to the invitation to turn out and sit by families. There was real enjoyment in listening to Miss Graves singing. The choir lot was well filled and Ira Lewis presided at the organ.

The Doctor said: "I come to you with a message that is very necessary in these days." Let the children come into Me and I will be able to answer them all. But reading them and the answers, will give you a lot of new information about Washington and what he did. 1—When and where was Washington born?

2—Why did Washington make a journey across the Alleghenies in 1753?

3—How did Washington save the life of an unknown Indian on that trip?

4—Under what circumstances did he nearly lose his life in the Allegheny river, also on this trip?

5—How long did it take Washington to travel from Virginia to the site of Erie, Pa., and return?

6—When and where did Washington's first battle take place?

7—Did Washington side with the French or the English in the struggle between those nations for the control of America?

8—Under what circumstances did Washington serve under the British General Braddock?

9—Why was Braddock's force defeated in the battle near Ft. Duquesne?

10—When and how did Washington later find Fort Duquesne in ruins?

11—In what body, and when, did Washington get his first legislative experience?

12—Was Washington at the battle of Bunker Hill?

13—When and where did he take command of the Continental army?

14—What famous Revolutionary leader suggested his appointment?

15—How did Washington save Boston in 1776?

16—What battle was Washington's first great defeat?

17—Under what circumstances did he spurn an "olive branch" offered by a British general?

18—How did General Howe's failure to move quickly after this battle save the Revolutionary cause?

19—In what way did what American officer nearly ruin the cause of independence, and, incidentally, Washington's reputation as a commander?

20—What did Frederick the Great, of Prussia, say about Washington's campaign around Princeton and Trenton during the closing months of 1776?

21—How did the Continental Congress, at that time, save the Revolution?

22—How many Hessians were in the force which Washington defeated so decisively at Trenton?

23—When did Washington pledge his entire fortune to the payment of his soldiers?

24—The forgetfulness of what British statesman caused the failure of Burgoyne's campaign of 1777?

25—Why did Washington go into the battle of Brandywine with inferior forces?

26—What rank did Lafayette hold on Washington's staff?

27—When did Washington prove to have been the chief contributing cause of his death?

28—What were Washington's expenses during the war, as stated by him to the Continental Congress?

29—When was Washington inaugurated president?

30—What action did Washington take, as president, when England and France went to war in 1793?

31—In what year did Washington die, and where?

32—What action did Washington take, as president, when England and France went to war in 1793?

33—In what year did Washington die, and where?

34—Lord George Herman forgot to notify General Howe to move up the Hudson river valley to assist Burgoyne; consequently Burgoyne had to make his campaign single-handed and was doomed to defeat.

La Salle Man Pulled Gun on Wife and a Man She Talked To Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Anton Pagani, of LaSalle, grew a bit irritated yesterday afternoon when he found his wife talking to another man in the Illinois Central depot and to show just how furious he could be, he drew a gun, backed the pair against a wall and was holding them there when police arrived and arrested him.

Aurora Priest is Dead as Result of Infection

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The Rev. Father James Alexander Quinn, 65, pastor of Holy Angels Catholic church here is dead of an infection of the throat.

The Rev. Father Quinn was born in Chicago, October 16, 1851, in the home of a Dr. McElroy who took the Francis N. Quinn family in after their home had been burned down in the great fire.

Several years ago a gold injury fell into the priest's lung while he was having some dental work done, but this was not discovered until months afterward when an x-ray was taken. The injury could not be removed and, coating apparently formed over it, but its presence in the lung was not a factor in the priest's death.

Chamber of Commerce's Good Will Trip is Over

New Orleans, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Seventy-nine members of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce representing 25 Illinois cities arrived in New Orleans today concluding a trip to seven South American countries. The trip was without incident except for a night spent on the fog bound lower Mississippi on the return journey. Lester Colby of Chicago, publicity director, fell into the clutches of customs officers as the party, headed by John N. Canlin, of Rockford, Ill., president of the Chamber disembarked from the steamer Carthage. A thorough search of his baggage however, failed to reveal anything undeclared.

A FIGURE TIME CAN'T DIM.

The past year has seen an awakened public interest in the life of George Washington; an interest that has found expression both in wide discussion of his career and in the production of several books.

A number of regrettable things have been said and written. Some have tried to magnify Washington's every fault and minimize his virtue, apparently in order to reduce him, as far as they could, to the level of the common man.

Others, equally worthy of blame, have tried to put the first president up on so high a pedestal that he loses reality. They have tried to picture him as a man without even minor frailties, a person of super-human wisdom and goodness.

Both extremes are wrong; but neither is a thing that we need trouble ourselves about.

What is important, and worth while, is that hundreds of thousands of people have been led to familiarize themselves once again with the life of the father of this, our country.

The story of Washington has been, and rightly so, a sort of epic of America's birth. It has been America's great saga, and Washington has become almost a semi-legendary hero, who looms ever larger through the mists of time.

All of our "humanizing" biographies will never change this. Washington will never be put on the homely, "just folks" plane that, for example, Lincoln occupies. Always, as long as America endures, he will tower above the rest of our heroes. The passing of time adds to his stature, instead of lessening it.

This, despite our desire for "human" portraits, is as it should be. In our gallery of great names it is only right that there should be one which glows with a flame more than earthly. We lift our eyes to the clouds too seldom.

Thus Washington remains, biographers or no biographers, the Father of his Country, literally and spiritually. He brought the nation to birth, through perilous hours—do not forget that he would have paid with his life, on a British scaffold, if the revolution had failed; and now, a century and a half later, he stands behind the shadows, greater and loftier than ever a beacon and an everlasting hope for the people that call themselves his.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE LAW.

Massachusetts has led all other states in requiring every applicant for an automobile license to show an insurance policy. This procedure has been under discussion several years. Everybody seemed disposed to want it "tried on the dog" before accepting it. Results in Massachusetts will be observed in detail by forty-seven other states. If the procedure appears to have been wise, the law probably will be adopted by many.

Views of automobile insurance have undergone change in legislative bodies during the last quarter of a century. It was eighteen or twenty years ago when legislatures were asked for authorization of automobile indemnity insurance. At that time nearly all automobile owners were persons financially responsible, and the public interest did not demand such insurance so much as did the interest of the owner of the machine. Objection was raised that such insurance would promote carelessness on the part of drivers. If they were insured against personal loss, their interest in safety ended there.

Insurance companies exerted enough influence to get their measures enacted into law, and after a time the pendulum had swung the other way. Instead of being faced with the question of relieving responsible drivers from personal loss, the legislatures have been compelled to meet the question of providing some security for persons who come into contact with drivers not responsible financially, and sometimes not responsible mentally.

It is only a natural result that it is the person who is financially responsible who takes care to provide himself with insurance. The person who is judgment proof also is insurance proof.

State governments shortly are going to be up against either compulsory insurance or revocable permits for drivers, or both. Illinois has been considering the revocable permit for a majority. We probably shall hear more of it now that the general assembly is in session again.

CUTTING DOWN ON ALIMONY.

Justice Smith, of the District of Columbia supreme court, is fed up on divorce and alimony cases.

Too many wives, he declares, seek divorce largely because they know that they can get alimony and can live in idleness.

Alimony doesn't account for all divorce suits, of course. And in many cases it is only just that a wife be supported by the husband she could not live with.

But we wonder, now and then, if the number of divorce suits filed annually wouldn't shrink appreciably if all judges insisted on allowing alimony only where it was truly deserved.

The scientist who can start life in the sea urchin could find plenty of jobs on land. For one thing, he might be made editor of the Congressional Record.

He can put pep in the egg of a sea animal, but it's the cold storage variety that keeps us guessing.

THE TINYMIES

BY HAL COCHRAN

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tynmies were glad to stay upon the smoke cloud. Thus all day, they listened to the Smoke Man tell of things up in the sky. "You see," said he, "I'm made of smoke. My body and my shoes and cloak. Why, I can smoke up everything, if I just choose to try."

Said Scotty then, "We all fall down when ever we try to walk around. I wonder can you tell us how to stand upon our feet?" The Smoke Man answered with a smile, "You just don't know the proper style of holding up your bodies, so you always take a seat."

And then his laughter broke anew. Said he, "I've played a trick on you. Each time you tried to stand, I moved the cloud and made you fall. So try again now, if you will, and I will hold the cloud real still." The Tynmies then stood up and, gee, it wasn't hard at all.

The Smoke Man then began to blow some smoke rings, and away they'd go, drifting through the atmosphere, and waving in the breeze. He made some big ones, then some small. They'd rise up in the air and all, it sure surprised the Tynmies; he did it with such ease.

When three or four had come out fine, they seemed to form into a line. They looked just like a tunnel when the Tynmies gazed down through. The Smoke Man then said, "Here's a plan. Try walking through them, if you can. Just hop along and, you will find it's not so hard to do."

At first the Tynmies seemed afraid, and then Wes Clowdy bravely made the first attempt to do the trick and started on the run. He jumped from one ring to the next. The other Tynmies seemed perplexed, but after while they saw 'twas safe, and joined him in his fun.

(Clowdy has a mishap in the next story.)

SAINT and SINNER

Bob's death, will take the stand to say that they saw automobile tracks in the snow. The only trouble is they don't agree exactly as to the kind of tire tracks.

"Oh, these policemen!" Faith exploded. "They make me sick! A detective wouldn't pay any attention to your story of the footprint under the window and those dimly detected don't even mention tracks of an automobile until Churchill pumps it out of them. All of that should have gotten before the coroner's inquest, and he has only a little more than two weeks before the trial. So far as I can see, he hasn't done a single, solitary thing!"

They were alone in the living room of the Lane home, Bob and Faith, sitting at each other with tired eyes which they had stopped trying to make beam cheerfully. But beneath this despair and weariness love glowed steadily, unfalteringly, deeply. Sometimes, during these hard days, Faith felt as if Bob were as much a part of her as her always busy hands, or her very heart.

No matter if their marriage might be delayed, Faith told herself, they had fused into a truer marriage than any man of God could expect. They had become one in service and tenderness, fear and hope. Strangely enough it had been Cherry, who had once tried to get Bob for her own, who had brought them together.

"Oh, I guess he's doing the best he can," Bob answered her dispiritedly. "Justice—or the legal interpretation of justice—seems to me immensely unfair. The law says that a defendant is presumed innocent until proved guilty, but it turns right around and offers all the machinery of the courts to the prosecution. The defense has no help whatever from the law. In preparing a case, the district attorney has everything and everyone at his disposal. The defense can't even get hold of the grand jury minutes, can't examine the dead man's papers, can't force witnesses to testify, while the prosecution could subpoena the population of the whole county."

"But hasn't Churchill made any headway at all?" Faith cried. Her hands trembled over the little pile of soft black crept de chine in her lap which she was fashioning into a dress for Cherry to wear at the trial.

"He's found an old man who will testify that he saw a taxicab parked in the alley behind Uncle Ralph's at eight-thirty the night of the murder. And a couple of police detectives who were sent to the house right after I reported Uncle

Cherry's aid.

Rheumatism can't be rubbed away

Are you one of those unfortunate who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S. For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a break-in-out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now that it was S.S.S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 415 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

LITTLE ADVANCE IN CORN PRICES SEEN BY EXPERTS

Joint Government and State Report Has Been Issued

Springfield, Ill., (AP)—It is doubtful if more than the usual seasonal advance in Illinois and United States corn prices from present levels will follow during the spring and early summer, said a joint report by the U. S. and state departments of agriculture. The report was based on information compiled in cooperation with various state departments of agriculture, state agricultural colleges and agricultural authorities.

The smaller 1926 corn crop was accompanied by a large increase in farm carry-over and visible supply, and a reduction in demand. The demand for the 1927 crop will be little if any greater. With no positive indications of increased demand, and with probable acreage increases in the south, an average yield would result in another year of low corn prices unless acreage in the corn belt is reduced from 10 to 20 per cent.

The total supply of corn on November 1, including that in storage, was only 1 per cent less than a year ago. The corn crop was more widely distributed over the country in 1926 than in 1925, with 67 per cent of the crop in the twelve North Central states in 1926 as compared with 77 per cent the year before.

The December market price of corn showed little change from a year ago when the decrease in general price level is taken into consideration. The average December farm price for the twelve Corn Belt states was practically the same for both years, but for the whole country the average farm price was somewhat lower in December this season than last, due largely to increased production and consequently lower prices in the southern states, especially in Texas and Oklahoma, and the poorer quality of this year's crop. Apparently the small decrease in the farm supply of corn has not been sufficient to offset the lower feeding demand for corn caused by decreases in hogs, cattle and horses.

Dairy Production Low
Figures from the state dairy industry indicate that production in 1927, while it may exceed the low 1926 production, will still be below average. The low production is due to a decrease of dairy cows in 1926, and an insufficient number of heifers for normal replacements.

The report is based on information compiled by the departments of agriculture in cooperation with various state departments of agriculture, agricultural colleges and organizations.

Domestic demand for dairy products promises to continue moderately favorable, and foreign demand to show improvement. Foreign production, however, is increasing. As a result, the dairy situation is a stronger one than a year ago.

Business activities may not quite equal the record levels of 1926, although present indications are that the recession will not be sufficient to appreciably affect the demand for dairy products or prevent a continuation in the upward trend in demand for milk.

No material changes are predicted for egg producers. Present indications point to a moderate increase in egg production, but it will probably have little effect on prices. Little change is expected in the production and marketing of poultry, so that present heavy storage holdings of dressed poultry are likely to have a depressing effect on the poultry market unless demand increases.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—The regular division meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church held at the home of the president, Mrs. C. P. Clarke, Monday afternoon, February 21st, was turned into a surprise party.

Mrs. Frank A. Campbell, the general pastor's wife, to remind her of the anniversary of her birth. A pretentious birthday cake was prepared and the ladies of the church made it an occasion of a hunkiechiever shower.

Mrs. Thomas W. Fowler and Mrs. Rose Haselton are the division leaders.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Smith announce the marriage of their eldest daughter, Bessie, to Henry Hintzche, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Hintzche, 8th of Rochelle, the ceremony occurring at the Presbyterian manse, Wednesday, immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. George B. Smith, grandparents of the bride, tendered them a wedding supper at which covers were laid for ten. After March 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Hintzche will be at home to their friends on the Hintzche farm leased by August Hintzche Jr., near Esmond.

Harold Heath, the 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Heath, second class scout in Troop No. 12, Black Hawk Council, has received a bronze medal and a check for $10.00 from the B'nai B'rith company for skill in using their first aid kit as a scout.

HUGO HOME FALLS

Paris—The old chateau where Victor Hugo used to court Adele Foucher, and where they spent the first years of their married life, recently collapsed. It now lies a mass of wrecked masonry and rafters. The chateau was built in the 13th century and many romantic figures of French history have visited the place.

HARMON NEWS

Mrs. Will Kranov and daughter Miss Elaine and Mrs. Harry Gaski motored to Dixon on business Saturday.

A number from here attended the dance in Walton Wednesday evening. They report a very enjoyable time.

E. T. McCormick and Harry Ostrander were business callers in Sterling the latter part of the week. Mr. Ostrander made a real estate transaction.

The vocal recital given in the M. E. church Friday evening by Mrs. William Hill, assisted by Mrs. Stauch, Mrs. Charles Hill and Rev. McKeown, was attended by a quite large attendance. The next number, to be given March 4th, is a wonderful semi-dramatic play, "Sown by the seed," which is to be given by the young folks.

Mr. and Mrs. John McDonnell and son of Tampico spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin McDermott.

There was a slight error in the last news item, in regard to the dance here Wednesday evening, given by the Altar and Rosary society. It was stated to be Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Death strikes GARRETT FOLSON while bathing at Ocean Town, N. J. It is thought at first he is a stroke victim, but investigation shows he has been stabbed to death beneath the water.

Folsom's swimming companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MISS ELLA BARNABY and CAROLITA VALDON. It is established that Folsom, just before his death had been standing next to NED BARNABY, known as the copper king.

ANASTASIA FOLSON, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the request it is learned that the death weapon was a pickaxe, an Oriental knife, and that it had been bought on the boardwalk.

It is also established that one CROYDON SEARS is a tangle of curious knives. Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives, and notices the curious French dolls in Garrett Folsom's room. He tells Titus Riggs that if the murderer is discovered some unpleasant things may come to light about his uncle.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVI

"THEN, I shall have to speak plainly," said Riggs. "You don't place your late uncle on quite so high a pedestal as his sister does."

"No—to be equally frank—I don't. I never liked my uncle, but aside from that, I always felt he was—oh, pshaw, I hate to say it—was a little—"

"Go on."

"Well, understand, I mean I thought, I feared, rather, that there were some transactions in which he was engaged that wouldn't stand the light."

"Dishonest?"

"Not in the generally accepted sense of that word, no. But dishonorable—oh, I don't know just how to express it."

"Have you any proofs of these accusations?"

"Oh, they're not really accusations. But I always suspected uncle was up to some devilry, and after I got aunt's wire about his death, I nipped down to his room where he was staying in New York, and I found a bag full of papers and letters, and I brought it along here with me. Now—well, Mr. Riggs, those documents go to prove that my respected uncle was deserving of very little respect, and that whoever did him in, really rid the world of a pretty black old scoundrel."

"And so you think it might be better to let sleeping dogs lie?"

"Yes, just that. I'm sure that to open up the hidden life of Garrett Folsom would bring to light truths of such a nature that my aunt would sink under the load of guilt and shame that would attach to his memory."

"You're not exaggerating this, Mr. Pelton?"

"No, I don't think so. I daresay you can guess the sort of nefarious business he carried on."

"From what you say, or rather from what you don't say, I can't help thinking it must be some form of blackmail."

"Yes, that's right. But not any common, ordinary blackmail, or him."

So, together, the two men went through the suitcase full of letters and papers.

any small jobs. It's merely that he knew a few secrets concerning the lives of several people, mostly his friends—I mean, apparent friends—and over these he had such a fearful hold that they were forced to pay him his price or be exposed."

"This is strong talk, Mr. Pelton."

"But it is true talk. And I have proofs—that is, some proofs. However, I hesitate to bring them forth, because any of them would suffice to throw suspicion on a man who may be entirely innocent."

"And, too, for your aunt's sake you hesitate to bring forth this new side to the tragedy?"

"Oh, partly for aunt's sake, but more because I feel this way about it. It seems to me that the men my uncle made miserable suffered enough, without being brought to the bar to answer for a murder that they didn't commit. For, naturally, only one man stabbed him, and to let loose a lot of facts that would bring suspicion hot upon the heels of a dozen others, seems a terrible thing to do."

"All this is logical and even ethical from the standpoint of your uncle's victims. But, on the other hand, he was murdered, and his murder ought to be avenged. No matter how great a villain Garrett Folsom had been, it doesn't exculpate the man who killed him."

"Well, leaving that question for the moment, let us get down to

"I suppose not, but as I said I'd hate to bring unjust suspicion on a lot of innocent men, and then perhaps not strike the right man among them."

"It's a big question, and it will require some thinking over before we can settle it. Look here, isn't Roger Neville an associate in business with your uncle?"

"He was—in some ways. You see, Uncle Garrett had several lines of business and many varied interests, all of which brought in money. Neville was with him in some of these schemes. But I've no reason to think or assume that Roger Neville had any part in or even any knowledge of these things I speak of."

"Well, we must ask Neville."

"Do it guardedly, for if he knows nothing about it all, we don't want to enlighten him."

"Then again, would it not be wise to let your aunt in on this secret? To be sure, she would be dismayed to learn of your uncle's wrong-doing, but as you have said yourself, Miss Folsom can stand shocks with fortitude. And it may

UNIFORMITY IN GAME AND FISH LAWS IS COMING

Midwest States to Co- operate in Move Begun in Ill.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Cooperation of all middle Western states from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico was forecast today by a joint committee of the Illinois legislature charged with developing uniform fish and game laws.

"While it is important that restrictive fish and game laws be made uniform in adjoining states," spokesmen said, "the adoption of a 'Mid West' program of restoration will constitute the main work of the committee. The establishment of a comprehensive system of preserves, rest grounds and feeding grounds in all these states, as well as opening state owned land to the public for shooting, fishing, camping and similar sports, form a fundamental part of the program."

"The work entrusted to us probably will be the greatest effort yet made to conserve outdoor resources. This system of preserves can be acquired without a cent of direct taxes, and although every citizen will benefit, sportsmen will pay the bill through hunting and fishing licenses."

The committee was appointed in a joint resolution by John Acker, representative from Savannah, which passed the senate and house with but one dissenting vote. It is composed of three senators and three representatives, including the chairman of each fish and game committee.

House members are Acker, James A. Reeves, Champagn, and Truman Snell, Carlinville. Senator Earl B. Seely, Springfield, chairman of the senate fish and game committee, is the only member yet named from the upper branch. The other two senators are expected to be added when the legislature is reconvened March 1.

Ten Giants Took Part in First Training Day

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Ambitious rookies and seasoned veterans alike were reaching for the imminent battle today in the Giants training camp at Saratoga, Fla.

The Giants tried the lid off their 1927 season yesterday with a fanfare of batting practice under the direction of Roger Bresnahan, coach, who subbed at the inaugural for Manager John McGraw, delayed in his trip to Florida from Havana by a storm. Ten players took part in two workouts.

Expect to Sign Ruth Early in Next Month

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Rube Ruth will make the first move towards settlement of his financial disagreement with the New York Yankees over the terms for the 1927 playing season early in March. It is the belief of the management that a satisfied Babe, duly signed for at least another season, will be heading south with the Yankee regulars to report at training camp by March 6.

Ruth's correspondence said that he has attained fine condition while working on a moving picture in Hollywood. His weight is down to 224 pounds and his neck to 16 inches. He has lost 8-3-4 inches of his waist line in two weeks.

Managers of St. Louis Teams Plan Hard Work

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Revamping an old motto, the managers of the Browns and Cardinals have evidently adopted the slogan "square the workouts and spoil the player" at their training camps.

Manager Dan Howley of the Browns has announced at Tarpon Springs, Fla., that his training camps have not been "places of rest" in the past and will not be in the future.

Manager Bob O'Farrell of the Cardinals, who will put his charges through their first session today at Avon Park, Fla., favors two workouts a day because he said it was difficult to "get the men tired in only one."

Latzo Defeated by Hull of Dallas Last Evening

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Pete Latzo, Scranton miner who hammered his way to the world's welterweight championship, nursed bruises today following a ten round battle with Clyde Hull here last night in which the Dallas fighter won on points. In the opinion of newspapermen. The title was not at stake as both men were overweight.

Northwestern Alumni to Banquet New Grid Coach

Chicago, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Northwestern University alumni will hear the first authentic outline of 1927 football plans for the Evanston school Thursday when the Northwestern University club fetes the school's new coach, Dick Haisley.

Kenneth L. Wilson, athletic director at Northwestern, Vic Gustafson, the 1927 captain, Major John J. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner, and the assistant football coaches of Northwestern are among the invited guests.

Romano to Quit if He Fails to Throw Lewis

Chicago, Feb. 22.—(AP)—On the date that honors a president who never told a lie, Mike Romano, who wrestles, has made a statement. It is that if he fails to throw Ed Lewis in their titular match next Monday night, he will come to challenge him.

Lewis will have a weight advantage of about 20 pounds, entering the ring at 230 lbs.

SWIM PRIZE WINDER ONCE HOUSE MAID

Until she won fame in the Catalina channel swim, in which she received a prize of $2500 for greatest endurance by a woman swimmer, Miss Martha Stager was a house maid employed in a home in Portland, Ore.

She learned to swim in the Portland public school tanks. Born on a Swiss dairy farm, she lived there until about ten years ago when she removed her residence to Portland. She learned the English language there, going to night school. Besides the crawl stroke, which she used for 19 hours in the Catalina contest, she is an adept at diving. Miss Stager knows how to play the violin and has performed with an orchestra in Portland.

WATTS GUNN WILL PLAY IN THREE TOURNAMENTS

Watts Gunn, youthful Atlanta member of the Walker cup golf team of 1926, will participate in three tournaments this year, the American amateur and open, and the newly established Southern open. Back in his mind, too, is a longing to return to England. Like Bobby Jones, British and American open champion, Watts is a student, a junior at Georgia Tech. But unlike Bobby, who is taking a vacation from the golf course to concentrate on his law studies, Gunn is mixing his golf with his books.

FRENCH LAW HAMBERS SPORTS OF CHILDREN

Sporting development in the schools of France is retarded in the old law making teachers morally and civilly responsible for accidents to pupils while in their cars. Parents may recover damages from a teacher for an accident to their child if the teacher is at fault in any way. Teachers, therefore, are careful not to authorize any school activities not covered by the government's outline of school work. One of the largest schools in Paris requires parents to sign a formal release from all responsibility for the child in sports before the pupil can join the school athletic association.

CONTEST TO DEVELOP FOR DAVIS CUP TEAM

Sharp competition may be expected for the place left vacant on the Davis cup team by the transfer of Vincent Richards from amateur to professional tennis. The sensational Richards will not be easily replaced in the array of talent the United States will offer in an effort to repel foreign invasion but several likely bidders are to be found. Ed Chandler, of California intercollegiate champion for two years, Lewis N. White of Texas, and Alfred H. Chapin, Springfield, Mass., five, six and seven, are generally credited with leading the field, although George Lott, Chicago, No. 9 in the ranking may compel consideration also.

ENGLISH RACE STAKES SOUGHT BY AMERICANS

Stephen Sanford, American race horse owner, is making a determined effort to win the English steeplechase of the year, the Grand National, March 28. He is said to have secured services of Jack Anthony, probably the best steeplechase jockey in the United Kingdom, to ride one of his four horses entered for the event.

Anthony has ridden the winner of the Grand National on three occasions. Sanford has won it once with Sergeant Murphy. Last year it was won by A. C. Schwartz with Jack Horner, purchased a fortnight before the race.

"NICK" CULLOP LIKES OPENING BALL GAMES

"Nick" Cullop, pitcher of the Louisville "Colonels" of the American Association and left handed farmer of Chilhowie, Va., is wondering what additions this season's opening game will bring to stock his farm. Nick's selection as opening day pitcher has become established. Each year boosters of the team make this an occasion to stage a demonstration. Many mascots, including pigs, lambs, chickens and turkeys are presented to the club. "Nick" has them crated and on the way to Shilhowie almost before the other players have seen them. Only once has he regretted his quick action. That was when he sent a goat to his home. The animal ate almost everything on the farm, according to the pitcher's story, including the leaves of his fruit trees.

Personally, I smoke for pleasure!

ON THAT basis alone, I select the tobacco that gives me pleasure in the greatest measure. (I wasn't deliberately trying to make a rhyme.) That tobacco is Prince Albert... good old Prince Albert, known as The National Joy Smoke—and for good reason!

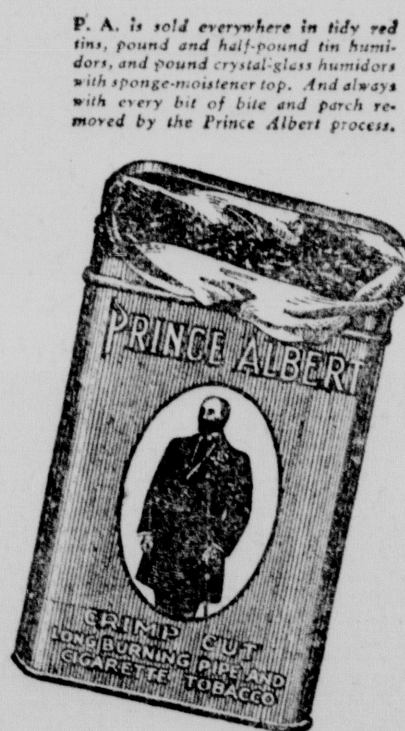

Have you never known the thrill of opening a tidy red tin of this fine old favorite and inhaling that wonderful fragrance? Have you never sat at one end of a pipe with P. A. at the other end and tasted that marvelous smoke? Then it's high time to start!

Buy yourself some Prince Albert today. Fill your pipe to the brim and light up. Notice how refreshingly cool it is, no matter how fast you feed it. Notice, too, that it is mild without sacrificing that full, rich body which you demand in a smoking tobacco.

I tell you in all sincerity: If you have never smoked Prince Albert, you simply don't know how good that old jimmy-pipe can taste. No matter how satisfied you think you are, try a tin of Prince Albert. No friend ever gave you a straighter tip.

PRINCE ALBERT

—the national joy smoke!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.
